MESSAGE FROM ERIC LA FLÈCHE AND ISABELLE MARCOUX

Honorary Chair of the Major Donors' Circle

ISABELLE MARCOUX, C.M.

Chair of the Board,

“ Dear Members of the Major Donors' Circle,

After the phenomenal campaign we carried out together last year, we are particularly proud to dedicate this directory to you.

Did you know that the Major Donors' Circle celebrated its 25th anniversary in 2022? Created in 1997, the Circle raised $1.3 million during its first campaign year.

In 2022, your committed solidarity translated into donations of over $21 million, representing one third of Centraide of Greater Montreal's annual campaign. This new record reflects your tremendous generosity during a particularly difficult time for vulnerable people.

Last year's inflation, housing crisis, and massive influx of refugees were just some of the major post-pandemic social upheavals that have made disadvantaged populations even more insecure. Community agencies have to cope with even more challenges to maintain their service levels, and we can support them in no small part thanks to you.

Without a doubt, your donations make a positive impact every day on every level of our society. Your humanity demonstrates how important it is to strengthen the social fabric of our city and to build a fairer, more equitable society.

Centraide of Greater Montreal's 50th annual campaign will launch in 2023, and we are both confident that, once again, you will demonstrate your proactive commitment and generosity.

On behalf of the entire Greater Montreal community, we extend our sincerest thanks and look forward to seeing you during Centraide of Greater Montreal's 50th campaign. ”

- Eric and Isabelle

JOSÉE DARCHE

Executive Director,
J.-Louis Lévesque Foundation

“ When the gap between rich and poor widens, we end up with a societal problem. The most disadvantaged people have nothing left to lose and become immersed in despair. This economic gap must absolutely be reduced, and for that we trust Centraide.

As business people, we appreciate things that are measured with concrete indicators. We know that our gift will have an impact because Centraide has done robust, proactive research before donating to an agency. For us, local philanthropy is essential. We want to help our community. We want to protect Montreal so that it keeps moving in the right direction. Of course, no one can achieve these things alone, so everyone has to do their part. What we like about Centraide’s approach is the financial support to agencies that help people help themselves. We don’t always want to give someone a fish but rather teach them to fish on their own. Overall, we believe that helping others creates a better balance in life. And isn’t balance a key to happiness? ”

“My grandfather created our foundation in the early 1960s as a way to give back to his community. Now it’s my turn to continue this important mission.”

Yanick Pagé

VISIONARIES

THE BACKSTORY

Yanick Pagé is the grandson of J.-Louis Lévesque. His mother, Suzanne Lévesque, served on the Board of Directors of Centraide of Greater Montreal for four years and witnessed first-hand the scope of Centraide’s work. To this day, Ms. Lévesque has nothing but good things to say about this philanthropic organization.

“ We are fortunate to work on products that have positive impacts on people’s health, but we wanted to do more and help in areas beyond the medical sector. Inflation, the cost of housing and groceries, and pandemic-exacerbated isolation have created many needs in our community. We therefore began making personal donations to Centraide a few years ago. For us, it’s very important to have a local impact. We particularly care about issues such as social isolation and youth success. Last year, our company carried out a transaction that took our business to the next level. We’ve become more serious about our philanthropy to maximize our local impact over the long term. We also want to sustain this gift year after year. ”

“Working with a recognized organization that targets opportunities and the greatest needs—rather than giving piecemeal to various groups—makes it easier to be a philanthropist.”

ERIC ST-PIERRE

Executive Director,
Trottier Family Foundation

“ Since its beginnings, the Trottier Family Foundation has supported Centraide of Greater Montreal. What began as personal contributions from the Trottier family and the Matrox company has grown into a strong strategic partnership to create significant impact that improves the lives of Quebecers in a situation of poverty.

We are particularly proud of our contribution to Amplifier, a new impact investment initiative to tackle Montreal's housing crisis while contributing to the climate transition. We are confident about the future and our work with Centraide, a leading institution in this field that has been supporting and investing in our community for 50 years. ”

“When the pandemic hit, we immediately knew that we had to connect with Centraide to address this unprecedented emergency. Thanks to its expertise on the ground, Centraide quickly distributed our emergency funds to everyone whose health and livelihoods were impacted the most.”

CHLOÉ RABY-ROUSSEL

Senior Director,
Boston Consulting Group (BCG)

Because I studied finance, it's important for me to give to an organization that invests my money effectively. Before giving to Centraide, I reviewed non-profit impact ratings, such as those of Charity Intelligence, to make sure my donation would truly support its mission and have the greatest possible impact. Centraide identifies where needs are in real time so that it can invest in the most impactful agencies. When I give to Centraide, I know the money is being maximized to help vulnerable people in Greater Montreal.

My giving wasn't as structured as it is today, as I used to make one-off donations, such as to encourage a friend in a marathon or contribute to a flood relief fundraiser. My husband and I lived in Morocco for a year, and we realized how lucky we are in Quebec to have community agencies that do important work to fight poverty and social exclusion. When you give to Centraide, you cover the essentials at the base of Maslow's hierarchy of needs. ”

“If you're too busy to volunteer, you may have some money to donate. On the other hand, if you're on a tight budget, you might have some time to get involved in our community. I think most people have something to offer, it's just a question of what form your giving can take.”

GENEVIÈVE PROVOST

GENEVIÈVE PROVOST

Vice-President, Deloitte Canada,

I grew up watching my mother, who was a very generous woman, industriously stuff little envelopes with donations. We would always collect items for the food drive, an activity that was sacrosanct in our family. She would also volunteer at a long-term care centre every Saturday, even though she worked Monday to Friday. That example she set for me is the one I now want to share. The values I want to pass on to my family are definitely altruism and generosity.

What got me involved with Centraide was its role in meeting funding needs. Since most community agencies aren't funded, they have to spend vast amounts of time and effort on fundraising. So that's what Centraide does. Every year, it funds over 350 agencies and projects to let them focus on their core mission.

I'm also really concerned about the urgent need to meet basic needs and about the success of young people. Education is an essential tool that helps us develop throughout our adult lives. If we want everyone to be free to make their own choices, the essentials must be in place from an early age. ”

“Centraide is 100% local help. Their allocation process to agencies is very deliberate, which means that the impact of this funding is compounded through concerted effort.”

JONATHAN ATWILL-MORIN

Executive Vice-President, Sales and Estimates, Atwill-Morin, and President, Atwill-Morin Ontario

For our family, sharing is a key value. We've had great success with our family business, which my brothers and I took over 20 years ago. I personally found out about Centraide through a workplace campaign when I was recruited to sit on a fundraising committee. I learned a lot about Centraide's mission, about poverty in Greater Montreal, and about Centraide's strategic investments.

My wife and I chose to continue our personal support of Centraide of Greater Montreal to set an example for our children. It's important for us to explain that sometimes people need some help to move forward and that we are responsible as citizens to share our resources. ”

“By supporting hundreds of community agencies, Centraide helps disadvantaged people grow, become self-sufficient, and make their families successful. Doing so is important and is why we trust Centraide.”

BUI FAMILY

PATRICK BUI

Chief Financial Officer,
Transat A.T. inc.

We believe that every child should be able to realize their dreams and develop their full potential. We also think that everyone should get a second chance and the opportunity to get back on their feet after a setback. Both of our families ingrained in us that education is the key to a promising future.

Here and around the world, we have all seen how difficult the last three years have been. We can attest to the incredible resilience of the people in our community and of our loved ones and colleagues.

But when obstacles pile up, overcoming them by yourself can be hard. This is especially true for young people, whose specific issues have generally been exacerbated by the impacts of the pandemic.

That's why we felt so compelled by the motivation and academic perseverance projects supported by Centraide. Contributing to this campaign is our concrete way of giving back to our community and supporting our young people in their education. And we're proud to be able to pass on these values to our three daughters. ”

“We are proud to support Centraide, an organization that chooses community agencies wisely, ensuring that each donation makes a significant difference where the needs are most pressing.”

ANNE-MARIE BOUCHER AND JAMES CHERRY

ANNE-MARIE BOUCHER

Co-Chair, 50th Anniversary
Planned Giving Cabinet

JAMES CHERRY

Co-Chair, 50th Anniversary

By taking the reins of the planned giving campaign for Centraide of Greater Montreal’s 50th anniversary, our goal is to raise awareness among Major Donors and inspire them to imagine their impact in the future. These donors are loyal to Centraide’s cause and support it as much as they can. But how can they make an impact even further down the road? What kind of legacy do they want to leave?

Those of us who have been very fortunate in business are privileged that we can take care of not only our families but also our communities once we’re gone. And we have a duty to do so. Having high net worth comes with social responsibility. Since poverty tears apart our social fabric, we have no choice but to give back. Centraide is the umbrella organization for Greater Montreal that funds a collection of agencies in the field that know better than anyone else how to meet the needs of vulnerable populations. ”

"We are committed as Major Donors to such an initiative, because we feel a responsibility to provide towards Greater Montreal’s future generations."

*Anne-Marie Boucher
James Cherry*

PLANNED GIVING

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Ms. Boucher and Mr. Cherry will lead a special Planned Giving campaign as part of Centraide of Greater Montreal's 50th annual campaign.

THE Generations' CIRCLE

Acting today to support the communities of tomorrow, that's the choice that Many Major Donors and Gold Leaders have made by planning a legacy gift to Centraide.

The Generations' Circle brings together these donors who have made a commitment to future generations of the Greater Montreal area, in order to honour their exemplary gesture that paves the way for the continuity of our action.

Thank you!

To all Major Donors and Gold Leaders who made a planned gift to Centraide to help us fight against poverty and social exclusion in the Greater Montreal area for generations to come.
